Swachh & Sugamya Bharat

The Genesis of Central Public Works Department

The Public Works Department was formally established in the year 1854 in the sixth year of Lord Dalhousie's tenure as Governor General. In the minutes of a meeting held on 12th July, 1854, the Governor General resolved that a Central Agency be provided by creating an office of Secretary to the Government of India in the Department of Public Works. The note recorded by Lord Dalhousie was as under:

"...The organization of the Department of Public Works in the Indian Empire will be incomplete unless there shall be provided for the Supreme Government itself some agency by which it may be enabled to exercise the universal control confided to it over Public Works in India with the best of scientific knowledge with authority and system.

The Government of India shall no longer be dependent on expedients, but should be provided with a permanent and highly qualified agency to assist in the direction of this important branch of public affairs.

I have, therefore, now to propose that such an agency should be provided by creating an office of the Secretary to Government of India in the Department of Public Works. The person who holds it should always be a highly qualified officer of the Corps of Engineers. He should have the aid of an Assistant Secretary, also an officer of the Corps of Engineers. His salary I think should not be less than that of the Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, namely Rs. 3,000 per month and the salary of the Assistant should not be less than that of the Assistant Secretary in the Military Department..."

Col. W. E. Baker of the Bengal Engineers was accordingly appointed first Secretary to the Department of Public Works-this is the genesis of the Central Public Works Department.

From the Desk of Editor

At the outset, I convey my warm greetings to all my colleagues and friends in CPWD and their families on the occasion of 163rd Annual Day of our Department. I am delighted to present a special issue of 'Nirman Bharati' before you on this auspicious occasion.

It is a matter of pride for all of us that our Department being one of the oldest Premier Engineering Organization has rendered yeoman service to the Nation. We have added many modern day marvels & landmarks and have many firsts to our credit like the first AIIMS, first IIT, first food storage godown, first astro turf and even the first multi-storied building in Delhi. We have been in the fore front for works required for national security and at the time of calamities. Most significantly, we have accepted the challenge of constructing roads on Indo-China Border in high altitude Himalayan ranges of Uttrakhand and Sikkim.

It is a matter of satisfaction that under the dynamic leadership of Shri Abhai Sinha, Director General, CPWD, we have been able to accelerate the momentum of our growth and keep our vision and mission clear and focused in realizing many significant achievements in the recent past. We have achieved the same since our officers and staff of all disciplines worked together in one fabric complementing one - another's strength and achievements.

It has been our endeavour to bring about this special edition of 'Nirman Bharati' in most attractive and informative manner to ensure that interest of the readers remains till the last page of the book. I am sure that readers will enjoy going through this special edition of 'Nirman Bharati'.

I express my heartfelt thanks to all the units of the CPWD, who contributed by sending the details related to their sphere of works in a time bound manner and made this special edition happen.

Once again, I convey my best wishes to all on the 163rd Annual Day of our Department.
